“So you've bought some fantastic wine; now what to do with it? You certainly won't be carrying it onto the plane with you... Finally, you could store the wine—55 degrees will pick up your purchases and store them in their warehouse until you're ready for them... Memberships range from $8 to $80 per month (707-963-5513; fiftyfivedegrees.com).”

- by BROOK WILKINSON, Conde Nast Traveler Online

“Way Cool... Get the wines you want, within the law. If you're a mailing list junkie rejoicing over the recent Supreme Court decision, but are still trapped in a state that frowns on direct shipping, this place might be just what you're looking for. . . Best of all, proprietors Neil and Karen Aldoroty are so plugged into the Napa Valley, they'll be able to tell you which lists are hot even before the wines are bottled. They'll also send you e-mail updates and help arrange appointments with wineries that don't normally accept visitors.”
